Here's a Skills for my Future activity you can complete at any time you fancy this term.

Safety comes first

1) You will be read a story, but before you read it make sure you practice the actions if you hear:

Rosie - wave

Hug - hug someone

Money - pat your pocket

'put your money somewhere safe' - cup your ear like you're listening extra hard

Story

In Rosie's birthday card from Uncle Hugh, was a ten-pound-note, all crisp and new!

Grandma is clever. Grandma is wise. She gave Rosie a hug and began to advise:

'Put your money somewhere safe, It's important you show you know where your money should go'.

Rosie thought and thought some more, money should be safe, that can't be ignored

Rosie thought - that's not advice to forget, money's important, where should it be kept?

Plastic, paper, metal and more, she knew about money, she'd seen it before.

to buy her favourite toy, or even something tasty, you use your money but first, comes safety.

Auntie is clever. Auntie is wise. She gave Rosie a hug and began to advise:

'Put your money somewhere safe, It's important you show you know where your money should go'.

Rosie thought and thought some more, money should be safe, that can't be ignored.

But Rosie was busy, she had things to do, she played outside and visited the zoo.

Time went on and more time passed, the money was forgotten, but she remembered it at last.

She checked her room, she checked her pocket, the money was gone, even from her wallet.

Rosie thought and thought some more, I should have remembered, it couldn't be ignored.

Mother is clever. Mother is wise. She gave Rosie a hug and began to advise:

'Put your money somewhere safe, It's important you show you know where your money should go'.

How do you think Rosie felt when she lost her money?

Where could Rosie have kept the money?
